

MYK Co., Ltd.

Company Description

With globalization in the current IT environment, MYK provides technical support service by Japanese-English bilingual engineers. We provide technical supports in the infrastructure environment operations such as designing, building, operating, and maintaining networks and servers or helpdesk service to foreign companies or Japanese companies that have overseas branches. We also support various global projects such as development work with foreign engineers or making requirement definitions of systems together with foreign customers in development fields of business application software etc. In addition, we also provide project promotion support in English and translation/interpretation related to IT businesses.

Our English-Japanese bilingual engineers who understand the gap between Japanese culture/customs and foreign ones support various global IT projects.
