Company Description

Get to Know Unwired Logic

A technology consulting firm specializing in add-value solutions, Unwired logic was founded in 2015 by two IT management professionals aiming to provide effective technological business management solutions.

Since those early days, the team has grown exponentially and continues to expand to include the best and brightest minds in technology and innovative thinking.

Unwired Logic is based in Tokyo, Japan. We work with a diverse group of clients across Asia, North America, and Europe.

- Information system construction consulting
- IT consulting for self-storage business
- IT solution proposals
- Implementation support
- After-sales support

WHY WORK WITH US?

Why work for some large corporation where you are just another cog in a wheel. We give you the freedom to excel and really expand your career. We value people who can "get 'er done" but and the same time "know how to have fun". These 2 concepts are baked into our core values.
