SCOPE OF JOB:

- Monitor, research and analyse economic and political events and trends, including foreign affairs, within the EU and wider Europe region
- Share intelligence regarding economic and political events and trends, as well as country risk issues with relevant stakeholders (regional business units, senior management and the global intelligence function) to facilitate business in the Europe region
- In relation to the above, collaborate with relevant departments of Tokyo HQ and other 'global intelligence' teams around the world, including the Middle East and Washington
- Develop and coordinate an information network with external entities such as think-tanks, universities, governmental institutions and embassies within the Europe region to facilitate business activities
- Attend external seminars or symposiums across the region to collect information and develop an information network
- Visit countries throughout the Europe region and beyond to collect information and extend the company's information gathering network
- Manage and help to develop the potential of the department in Brussels and London

DIMENSIONS AND LIMITS OF AUTHORITY:

Consistent with a DGM position.

QUALIFICATIONS/SKILLS/PERSONAL QUALITIES:

Qualifications:

- Master's Degree or above in an Economics or International Relations related field

Skills:

- Bilingual in written and spoken English and Japanese
- Excellent communication, collaboration and networking skills at all levels
- Good level of economic, political, international relations and business analytical skills
- Excellent written and oral presentation skills
- Logical and critical thinking skills
- Budgeting and/or cost control experience

Personal qualities/Attributes:

- Self-driven and proactive
- Comfortable and competent in dealing with senior management and with public speaking
- Able to travel regularly within the Europe region or other regions and engage with a wide range of business stakeholders
- Be a trusted mentor and manager to the team members, including Senior Analysts
