Job Description

You will provide strategic counsel to clients and develop communications strategies, ensuring timely delivery and alignment with budget expectations. You will lead client accounts, build strong relationships with key stakeholders, and drive business development by identifying opportunities for growth and expansion.

Additionally, you will engage with major media outlets, and play an active role in nurturing client and media relations.

Client Details

Our client is a globally recognized communications firm renowned for delivering strategic communication solutions. With a strong presence in Japan, the firm works with high-profile clients across various industries, offering expertise in public relations, corporate communications, and crisis management.

Originally based in Europe, the firm joined one of the world's leading global communication groups in 2018. With offices in 12 countries, it celebrated its 20th anniversary in Japan last year and has been expanding in the country since its founding in 2004. The firm was also recognized for its exceptional work in crisis and risk management, further solidifying its reputation as a leader in the communications industry.

Description

- Lead client relationships by providing strategic counsel, and develop PR and communication plans.
- Oversee multiple projects, ensuring timely delivery within budget, while identifying business development opportunities.
- Mentor junior colleagues and engage with key media outlets like Nikkei, Bloomberg, and Reuters to drive media coverage.

Job Offer

- Competitive compensation package (including a high salary, various leaves, and bonuses).
- Opportunity for global office exchange after one year.
- Work with top-tier clients from diverse industries.
- Thrive in a global environment and use your English language skills.
