Job Description

We are currently seeking a Supply Chain Planning Analyst to manage and improve the flow of Fast Moving Consumer Goods (FMCG) in the procurement and supply chain department. The ideal candidate should have a thorough understanding of supply chain processes and an ability to strategize for maximum productivity and efficiency.

Client Details

Our client is a globally recognized, large organization operating in the FMCG industry. They have a significant footprint in the market and are renowned for their high-quality products, innovative solutions, and commitment to excellence. They value collaboration, innovation, and continuous improvement, creating a supportive and growth-oriented environment for their employees.

Description

- Data analysis
- Collaborating with sales and production teams to determine optimal inventory levels

- Suggesting improvements to the company's existing procurement processes
- Managing and mitigating supply chain risks
- Building and maintaining good relationships with vendors
- Determining key supply chain KPIs and working towards their improvement
- Creating supply chain management strategies to increase efficiency and speed
- Conducting regular supply chain performance reviews

Job Offer

- An estimated salary range of 7,000,000 to 9,000,000 JPY per annum
- A diverse and inclusive work culture
- The opportunity to work with a team of professionals
- A chance to contribute to a leading company in the FMCG industry

This is a fantastic opportunity to make a significant impact in a leading FMCG company and enhance your professional career. We are looking forward to reviewing your applications.
