Job Description

We are looking for Senior Product Manager to drive the strategy of the digital payment solutions for employee benefits in Japan. You will define and develop product roadmaps, manage cross-functional teams, and ensure alignment with business objectives to accelerate growth.

Client Details

Our client is a well-established French IT company operating in Japan, specializing in digital solutions for employee benefits. The Japan team is currently in a growth phase, with ambitious plans to scale the business significantly in the next few years. The company values entrepreneurial spirit, customer focus, and collaboration to create user-friendly and efficient digital experiences.

Description

- Define and implement the product vision, strategy, and roadmap.
- Identify market opportunities and propose new product ideas to management.

- Translate customer needs into actionable product requirements.
- Work closely with cross-functional teams, including engineering, design, and business stakeholders.
- Lead agile product development processes and oversee execution.
- Communicate product goals and updates effectively to senior stakeholders.
- Manage and develop a team to execute product strategies and drive business growth.

Job Offer

- Competitive salary and benefits package, reflecting your expertise and leadership skills.
- Hybrid work environment with flexibility to balance office and remote work.
- Career growth opportunities in a rapidly expanding global organization.
- Engage in high-impact projects, including integration with major payment networks.
- Work with a cutting-edge tech stack and contribute to large-scale digital transformation.
- A collaborative, innovative workplace with a strong focus on employee development.
