Job Description

This role offers an exciting opportunity to manage and strengthen stress testing processes within a leading financial institution. You will work across regions and functions, ensuring robust risk management and regulatory compliance in a dynamic, fast-paced environment.

Client Details

Our client is a prominent global financial services provider, focused on innovation in risk management. The team drives forward-looking risk strategies, with stress testing at the core of their operational framework, influencing key decisions and business strategies.

Description

- Lead and manage the COO function for stress test operations.
- Coordinate global stress testing initiatives, ensuring alignment with business and regulatory objectives.
- Support communication between management, front-office, and corporate teams to inform decision-making.
- Manage cross-functional stakeholder relationships, ensuring effective risk governance.
- Oversee the development and validation of stress test models, methodologies, and tools.
- Ensure compliance with capital adequacy regulations, managing audits and regulatory reporting.

- Coordinate with international regulatory bodies and internal audit functions.
- Proactively manage and deliver stress test projects within deadlines.

Job Offer

- High-profile role managing risk at the intersection of global operations.
- Exposure to top-tier regulatory frameworks and business leaders.
- Collaborative, dynamic work environment with international opportunities.
- Career growth prospects through diverse global interactions.
