募集要項

Company Profile

The client is a payment service company which helps global business to expand in Japan. With international culture and great diversity, it offers good benefits like remote work and English speaking environment.

The Role

- We are looking for a technical engineering manager for our pivotal engineering teams, adept at managing high-paced requirements.
- We require a hands-on leader capable of overseeing a team of 8-9 members, facilitating daily stand-ups, and serving as a vital liaison between the engineering management and product teams.

Your Skills

- Technical Proficiency: For this team, we are specifically seeking candidates with a background in software engineering.

- The role demands a deep understanding of the technical understanding that our engineers encounter daily, enabling the manager to offer support and guidance where necessary.
- Adaptability: Our company is experiencing rapid growth, necessitating the ability to navigate constant change with professionalism.
- The ideal candidate will excel in conflict management, reorganization, and exhibit adaptability as our organization evolves. (Previous experience in scaling-up phases would be a big plus for this)
- We require an EM who can strike a harmonious balance between meeting business objectives and safeguarding the well-being of their team.
- An individual who can adeptly navigate compromises to address business needs while identifying solutions that prioritize the team's needs.

Location

Tokyo 23 wards

Salary

12 M - 16 M JPY

Selling points

- We embrace remote work while also offering office space for those who prefer in-person collaboration.
- Budget for self-learning allowance, to ensure our employees' skills remain current
- Our business has been profitable and we are aiming for IPO
- Our members come from different culture and the working environment is very international
