The Role:

The core purpose is the mission of the job · why it needs to be filled and how it fits into the organization. By narrowly defining the Core Purpose you're able to define what's needed to solve the existing business challenge (s)

The Global Supply Chain Direct Spend Category Management team at Entegris is an integral function charged with enabling Entegris' global supplier category plans and business growth objectives while satisfying some of the world's largest and most demanding semiconductor customers.

We are currently seeking a dynamic Sr Manager of Direct Category Management based in Japan to join our team. In this global role you will report directly to the Director Direct Procurement Asia Region and your primary responsibility will be to strategically manage Entegris' category management team in Japan and manage the commodities and suppliers in Japan to the level required to satisfy Entegris business needs. You will also be working with other Commodity Team members globally to enable synergy in actions and excellence in procurement practices.

If you are someone who thrives in developing business relationships that leads to enhanced performance and commercial success and can lead a team of supply chain professionals in the dynamic semiconductor market this is a fantastic opportunity to join a highly motivated team.

In this role you will:

What are the expected outcomes · What must this role get done in order to meet your business objectives · Define "what success will look like."

You must be able to manage Supplier Relationship and New Product Introductions programs as well as interfacing and develop relationships with high level executives.
