募集要項

Company Profile

- An international investment company with interests in the logistics, energy, and data center sectors.

The Role

- You will be working with the infrastructure manager to provide support, maintenance, and upgrades to the company's corporate IT infrastructure, which has over 400 users in Japan. You will also be working with international teams to integrate the company's existing systems into that of their parent company, who recently acquired the organization, so you will be dealing with international stakeholders on a regular basis.
- You'll also be working with external vendors on various projects involving cloud systems, routers, switches, etc.

Your Skills

- Fluent Japanese and business level English are mandatory for this role.
- This role would suit an infrastructure engineer with strong network knowledge (routers, switches, firewalls).

- We can consider candidates from any industry.
- CCNA / CCNP is a bonus but not mandatory.

Location

Tokyo

Salary

8 - 11 million yen

Selling points

- This is a stable investment company who have recently been acquired by a huge US corporation, who are investing heavily into the business.
- This role will see you contributing to the development of new infrastructure in Japan.
- You will be working with international stakeholders, allowing you to use your Japanese and English skills regularly.
