募集要項

COMPANY OVERVIEW

A Japanese independent IT company that provides software products and solutions, with a particular strength in development support tools.

Their goal is to help companies and users succeed based on their philosophy of "Helping the world."

They provide a variety of solutions to improve digital operations in a wide range of industries and occupations by proactively incorporating no-code and low-code technologies that enable system construction without IT expertise and software development support tools that have sold a cumulative total of 1.2 million licenses. They also have more than 30 years of experience in providing business systems that support school management, which have been introduced in more than 3,600 private schools nationwide, and business systems for nursery schools and other social welfare facilities.

JOB RESPONSIBILITIES

Inside Sales position to help expand sales of the company's component products based on the Java script .NET development language, you will not only be responsible for up-selling and cross-selling to our 400 existing customers in Europe, but you will also be actively involved in invoicing and marketing activities.
